About Me

I am an experienced Front-End Developer specializing in modern technologies such as React, Next.js, Tailwind CSS, and more. I focus on creating fast, efficient, and user-friendly web interfaces.

I have hands-on experience working on real projects. I participated as a Front-End Developer in the Taraqqiyot NGO project, where I utilized modern technologies to develop effective and functional interfaces.

My goal is to become a highly skilled developer, deepen my expertise in my field, participate in more real-world projects, and contribute to the development of projects that benefit society. I am always eager to learn new technologies and continuously enhance my knowledge.
